

NECOG can finance equipment with less money down.

After years of operating hay grinders for other businesses, Tyler Sievers felt the entrepreneur's itch and decided to start his own business. With no business experience and only a handful of clients to start, banks were leary to loan him the money for expensive hay grinding equipment.

NECOG stepped in and made the deal possible. TKS has grown so much he's on his second unit.

“NECOG steps up and gives you a chance to run a business.”

Why NECOG was a good fit

Expensive, specialized equipment can be a tough proposition for local banks. This is especially true for new businesses without prior sales to create reliable projections from. NECOG is willing to look at the full financial picture and take the risk along side entrepreneurs.

When banks say no, NECOG gets to work. We're an alternative lender with a mission to support business growth and entrepreneurship in the counties we serve. We work with other lenders or go it alone to make business happen.
